INDEX

A

Adherence client, improving of, benefits of, 154–155 compliance and, 151–154 in practice
    four habits approach, 160
    improving of, communication skill exercise for, 161–162 increase in, 151–164
    relationship building, 155–160 road map for, 155–160
ADOBES model, 67–75
Animal health and welfare team, compassion fatigue and, 127–130

B

Bad news, delivering of, in veterinary medicine, 98–101
Bayer Animal Health Communication Project, 68 Behavior(s), in veterinary practice, 51–52
Boundary(ies), veterinary clients and, 72–74 Burnout, 124
  compassion fatigue vs., 125–126

C

Charity, compassion fatigue and, 124
Child-friendly bond-centered practice, development of, 183
Children
  communicating with, 181–198 developmental issues, 190–192 emotional development, 182–183 human-animal bond, 192
    nurturance, 182–183
    socialization, 182–183
  pet loss and, 183–188
Client-veterinarian communication, skills for client-centered dialogue and shared decision making in, 37–47
College of Veterinarians of Ontario (CVO), 1 Communication
  among veterinary health care team, roadblocks facing, 21 client-veterinarian exercises for, 46–47 4E model for, 41–45
    described, 41
    education in, 44–45
    empathy in, 42–44
    engagement in, 42
    enlistment in, 45 roles in, 38–41 skills for client-centered dialogue and shared decision making in, 37–47 end-of-life, in veterinary medicine, 95–108 grief process, 97–98
    implementation of, 104–105 underlying premises, 97 in veterinary emergency setting, 109–121 considerations in, 110–111
    delivering bad, sad, or unwelcome news, 112–119 obtaining informed consent, 111–112 in veterinary medicine, 1–17 evidence-based model for, 3–15
      Four Habits approach, 3–15
        described, 3–4
        Habit 1, 4–5
        Habit 2, 5–11
        Habit 3, 11–13
        Habit 4, 13–14
        overview of, 4
      nonverbal, in veterinary practice, 49–63.
        See also Nonverbal communication, in veterinary practice. with special populations. See also Children, communicating with.
    children, 181–198
    older adults, 188–190

Note: Page numbers of article titles are in boldface type.
Compassion, showing of, opportunities for, 72 Compassion fatigue, 123–134 animal health and welfare team and, 127–130 as emotional trauma or secondary PTSD, 124 burnout and, 124
   burnout vs., 125–126
   charity and, 124
   described, 123–126
   effects of, 126–127
   history of, 123
   self-test and, 130
   signs and symptoms of, 126–127 strategies for dealing with, 130–133 professional care, 133 self care, 131–133
Compliance, adherence and, 151–154
Consent, informed, obtaining of, in veterinary emergency setting, 111–112 CVO. See College of Veterinarians of Ontario (CVO).

D
Decision making, euthanasia, in veterinary medicine, 95–108. See also Communication, end-of-life, in veterinary medicine.
Development, emotional, in communicating with children, 182–183 Disappointment, in veterinary practice, addressing of, 135–149 already occurring disappointment, 142–145 building partnerships and reducing disappointments, 141–142 client satisfaction, 140 exercise and, 146–147
   malpractice claim, 139–140 outcomes-related, 137–138 specifics of clinical interaction, 141 when error has caused harm, 145–146

E
Emotional development, in communicating with children, 182–183
Emotional intelligence, of veterinary health care team, 23
Emotional trauma, compassion fatigue as, 124 Ethical dilemmas, in veterinary medicine, 165–179 considerations in, 173–174
   creation of moral boundaries, 172–173 management of, 169–172 responsibilities to animals and, 167–168 role play in, 175–176
   sources of, 166–169
   valuing animals and, 167 veterinarian’s role and, 169
Euthanasia decision making, in veterinary medicine, 101–104 Evidence-based model, for communicating in veterinary practice, 3–15. See also Communication, in veterinary medicine, evidence-based model for.
Exercise(s), for difficult interactions with veterinary clients, 75–77

F
Fatigue, compassion, 123–134. See also Compassion fatigue.
Four Habits approach, for communicating in veterinary practice, 3–15. See also Communication, in veterinary medicine, evidence-based model for, Four Habits approach.

G
Get-help zone, 74–75
Good to Great, 23
Grief process, in veterinary medicine, 97–98

I
Informed consent, obtaining of, in veterinary emergency setting, 111–112
Intelligence, emotional, of veterinary health care team, 23

L
“Live Aid” concert, 123

M
Malpractice claim, in veterinary practice, addressing of, 139–140
Meaning, discovering of, 71–72 Money, talking with veterinary clients about, 79–93 acquiring services, 83–84 “because I said so,” 83 clients’ need for, 80–81 delivery, 90–92
   engaging clients in, 81–82 fees, 88–89
   in providing value, 79–80 message, 84–87
   messenger, 87–88
   missing link, 92
reasons for, 79
uncomfortableness of, 80
Moral boundaries, creation of, in veterinary medicine, 172–173

N
Nonverbal communication, in veterinary practice, 49–63 basic behavior, 51–52
  exercises for, 62–63
  skills related to, 52–62 addressing mixed messages, 53–54 developing nonverbal rapport, 58–62 shaping space, 54–58
Nonverbal rapport, developing of, 58–62
Nurturance, in communicating with children, 182–183

O
Older adults
  communicating with, 188–190
  pet loss and, 192–194
  tips for working with, 194

P
Pet loss
  children and, 183–188
  older adults and, 192–194
Posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD), secondary, compassion fatigue as, 124 Practice values, of veterinary health care team, 25

R
Relationship(s), among veterinary health care team, 25–26
Relationship building, in adherence in practice, 155–160

S
Socialization, in communicating with children, 182–183

T
The Discipline of Teams, 27
The Five Dysfunctions of a Team, 26
The Intelligent Patient’s Guide to the Doctor-Patient Relationship: Learning How to Talk So Your Doctor Will Listen, 69
The Seven Habits of Highly Effective People, 19
Trauma, emotional, compassion fatigue as, 124

U
Update, 1

V
Value(s), practice, of veterinary health care team, 25 Veterinary clients difficult interactions with, 65–77 boundaries, 72–74
  challenge zone, 67–75
  exercises for, 75–77
  get-help zone, 74–75
  show compassion, opportunities to, 72 talking about money with, 79–93. See also Money, talking with veterinary clients about.
Veterinary emergency setting, communication in, 109–121. See also Communication, in veterinary emergency setting.
Veterinary health care team, 19–35 building of, 24
  challenges facing, 33
  clear vision of, 20
  communication roadblocks facing, 21 compassion fatigue and, 123–134. See also Compassion fatigue. defined, 21
  emotional intelligence and, 23 groups vs., 21–22
  ingredients of, 26–29
  members of, 22–23
  pitfalls of, 26–29
  absence of trust, 26–28 avoidance of accountability, 31 fear of conflict, 28–30 inattention to results, 32 lack of commitment, 30–31 practice exercise for, 33–35 practice values of, 25 purpose of, clarification of, 24–25 relationship among, 25–26 successful, elements of, 22 taking action by, 33 Veterinary medicine
  changes in, 135–137 ethical dilemmas in, 165–179. See also Ethical dilemmas, in veterinary medicine.
Veterinary practice, nonverbal communication in, 49–63. See also Nonverbal communication, in veterinary practice.